Firebarn Museum

I am going to visit the Firebarn Museum.

It is an indoor museum with many displays about Fire Fighting and Safety I can explore.

The Firebarn Museum

When I arrive at the Museum, I will see this:

I will walk through the doors to meet the front desk person. That person will tell us about the Museum and answer any questions we have.

The First Floor

Here I go!

Inside I will see a horse. The horse is not real so I can get close, but I will stay behind the rope.

The First Floor

If I need a calming place to go while I visit the Firebarn. I can go to the chill out zone on the first floor in the back hallway.*

Here I can lay on a crash pad, play with fidget toys, and chill.*

*Please note the Chill Out Zone is only available during the ASD Sensory Saturday event.

The First Floor

There is a red carriage that the horses pulled a long time ago to help fight fires.

The carriage is behind a rope so I should look, but not touch.

The First Floor

In the back of the room I will see another horse next to a small open room.

I can learn about the animals that helped the Fire Fighters by reading or having an adult read the signs to me.

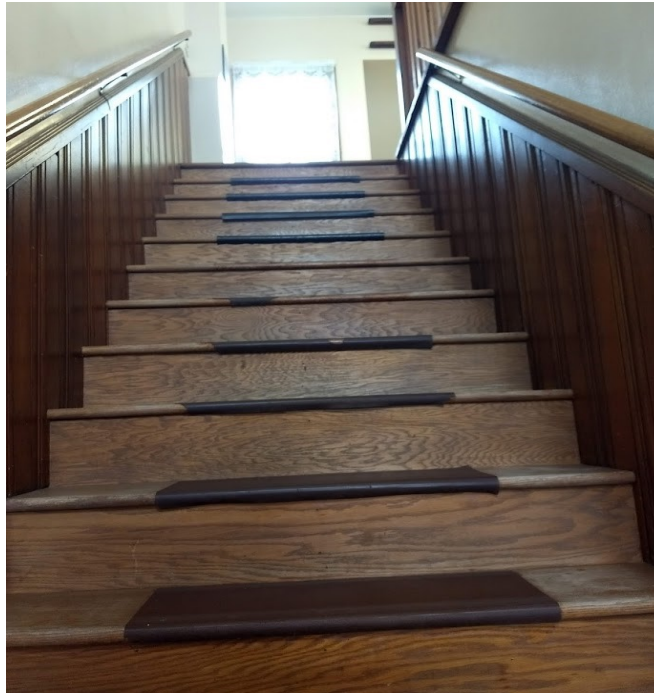

The First Floor

There is a large Fire truck on the first floor. I can get up close to the Fire Truck and use gentle touch.

The Second Floor

When I am done looking at the first floor I can walk up the stairs to the second floor.

There will be more fire fighting objects for me to look at.

If it is a ASD Sensory Saturday there will be a craft on the second floor.

The Second Floor

If I need to use the restroom it is on this floor at the back of the room.

The Second Floor

Upstairs I can see where the Firemen slept.

There is a button I can press to listen to a story about how the fireman lived. It is loud so I should ask for help before I press the button.

The Second Floor

I can look at the uniforms and tools the Firemen used to fight fires and protect themselves.

The Second Floor

When I am done looking around I can head back down the stairs to the first floor.

Leaving the Fire Barn Museum

When I make it down the stairs I can look around again or I can head out the front door for the day.

Thank you for Visiting!
